

DARTON · LONGMAN + TODD

2021 NEW TITLES & STOCKLIST

In 2021 Darton, Longman and Todd will be releasing a large range of new titles – for Christians, the spiritually curious, those seeking to improve their mental health and wellbeing, or simply after a rattling good read.

Following the launch of the Revised New Jerusalem Bible in 2019 in Study Bible format, three Readers' editions of the RNJB will be published in 2021 both in hardback and paperback (with 'day' and 'night' iterations). A strong alternative to the official lectionary Bible, the RNJB is justly described as 'one of the most beautiful and poetic' of all Bible translations.

Based on the RNJB text the companion volume to The Sunday Gospels for Advent, Christmas, Lent and Easter entitled The Sunday Gospels for Ordinary Time hits shops at the start of the year; Fr Adrian Graffy's compilation of all the Sunday Mass Gospel readings for years A, B and C of the liturgical calendar, with reflections for personal reading.

Meantime, in March What Is Man? presents the full text in English of Che cosa è l'uomo?, the official 2019 statement of the Pontifical Biblical Commission on aspects of biblical anthropology. It focuses on four themes: human beings created by God; human beings in the garden; the human family; human beings in history.

Human beings fleeing persecution are a main focus of the fourth title in the How the Bible Can Help Understand Series – Denise Cottrell-Boyce's book Welcoming the Stranger joins Forgiveness (Frank Cottrell-Boyce), Approaching the End of Life (Virginia Moffatt), and Illness, Disability and Caring (Bernadette Meaden).

Understanding is at the heart of our Lent offerings this year, including the Henry Martin's second book for DLT, Alongside, which explores Jesus' struggles and how they can help us understand our own, and Rachel Mann's Still Standing, a Lent course based on the BAFTA-winning Elton John movie, Rocketman, which examines how can better come to terms with our identity and calling.

In the autumn, we will unveil our Lent course with film tie-in for 2022 by Bishop of Dover, Rose Hudson-Wilkin, based on the Broadway smash and screen adaptation of Hamilton. As well as this, there'll be a new book by Liam Kelly (The Glorious Journey) entitled Lent in 50 Objects and Henry Martin returns with a meditation on Vincent Van Gogh and the Good Samaritan.

Using the medium of film and TV to explore elements of spirituality finds further expression in the God on TV series, the first two titles of which All of Life and Being Humans are based on Call The Midwife and Humans respectively. While Ineffable Love takes the novel and hit series Good Omens as its cue to encourage readers to consider real life issues including justice, power, the body, love, renewal and hope in relation to their faith.

Heaven Come Down, the powerful autobiography of transgender disciple Chrissie Chevasutt, makes for as powerful a faith conversion story as you will read in the next twelve months. Ray Simpson's Monk in the Marketplace vividly distils decades of experience at the forefront of the new monastic movement, and Sally J. Timmel's You Can Never Go Back serves as a powerful insight into leadership, from the founder of influential Training for Transformation. Endorsed by Neil Gaiman, From Spare Oom to War Drobe by Katherine Langrish will delight anyone interested in Golden Age children's books and CS Lewis.

Theology is featured prevalently on our 2021 list, beginning with two leading titles released in February. Grace is Not Faceless collects the core writings and addresses on Mary by Ann Loades, one of the most important contributors to contemporary feminist Marian theology, especially from an Anglican perspective. Seven Days To Freedom ingenuously demonstrates how the four-fold integrated process of the Sabbath is essential to the biblical witness concerning Creation and contemporary issues. Later in the summer we are set to release Green Theology, an award-winning treatise in eco-feminist theology from Trees von Montfoort, then, in September, our all new My Theology series brings together some of the most prominent names in contemporary theological writing and thought including Alister McGrath, Malcolm Guite, Ilio Delio, Robert Beckford and the Michael-Ramsey-prize-nominated, Rachel Mann.

Ian Bradley, one of the most renowned British theologians, returns, too, this year with a profound and thought-provoking book on life after death entitled The Quiet Haven, and the subject of ageing well as part of a Church community is expertly tackled by the founder of Embracing Age, Tina English in A Great Place To Grow Old.

Books about sexual and spiritual abuse in the confines of community don't come more powerful than Andrew Graystone's expose of the Iwerne camps, which were attended many of the most influential leaders in today's Church of England – Bleeding for Jesus is an important and revelatory book. Meanwhile, no less important are the experiences of Anglican Lay women as documented in Jennifer Wild and Hannah Ward's Edgewise.

2021 also sees us expanding the Pocket Library of Spiritual Wisdom. In July and again in October we present four bona fide spiritual classics in pocket-sized format, including All Shall Be Well: Revelations of Divine Love of Julian of Norwich by Sheila Upjohn, Holiness by Donald Nicholl, Yes to God by Alan Ecclestone, and In Search of Way by Gerard W. Hughes (the author of God of Surprises).

Finding a way of navigating these troubled times is a theme that runs through most of our new general trade releases. Lighten Our Darkness examines the revival and phenomenon of choral evensong. Looking Ahead With Hope offers stories of humanity, wonder and gratitude in a time of uncertainty. David Gee's Hopes' Work draws on stories past and present of hope and resistance to help us reengage and refresh our lives. Smoothie Doctors literally helps us find refreshment, offering a recipe book of nutritious smoothie drinks approved by qualified medical practitioners. And last but by no means least, our bestselling title of the decade, You're Not Crazy - It's Your Mother, for daughters of narcissistic mothers, gets a fully revamped and updated second edition.

Thank you for supporting our books!
